Cool pool

Technology Pools launched Ultra Level Infinity Swimming Pool - a stunning swimming pool without edges or walls, with the water reaching past its rim to merge with the horizon. This effect is achieved by creating a miniscule basin around the perimeter to catch the water when it falls over the side. From there, the water is pumped through a secondary filtration system which brings it back into the pool. And, since these are built on cliffs and hills, the effect of the water spilling over into nowhere, is quite entrancing. The company offers many options in terms of materials and exotic designs including the addition of relaxing spas and other luxuries. These pools are popular all over the world and can be built on almost any location.
